

WIGGLE WIGGLE WIGGLE

THE WEATHER.

The morning after the night before, the sun is bright, but there are clouds in the sky. The wind is light, and the temperature is in the 70's. High tide 2:45 p.m., low tide 8:15 p.m.

CHARLES DEBBE'S PARADES

The first parade, the biggest crowd and the best all-around good time in the history of the city, was given by Charles Debbe, Jr., on the anniversary of the battle of Bunker Hill in Charleston.

The sun shone down from a cloudless sky when the fantastic parade of the "Antique and Historic" began. The parade was a most successful and a constant outburst of cheer.

It was estimated that more than 100,000 people gathered the picturesque spectacle.

Prize Winners.

One of the largest lots of the day was made by Mutt and Jeff, who had come back from the carnival especially for this event. Many of the other laugh-provokers from the funny papers of the AMERICAN were in the parade. They were warmly greeted as old friends by the great throng.

The prize winning features in the glorious parade were:

First prize, $250, Jackson Club, "The Ruben's Fire Brigade"; second, $150, Eagle Association, "Carwards of Car Islands"; third, $100, Junior League Club, "Evolution of New England"; fourth, $50, "Military Order of the Serpents"; fifth, "Military Order of the Serpents".

Honorable mention was awarded these features: "The Order of the Serpents" and "Hygiene Club".

The first prize for banner bearing was awarded to the "Order of the Serpents" and the third to the "Order of the Serpents".

Catholic Union Banquet.

It was one of the quietest "night-buffs" that Charleston has ever experienced. But when the sun poured over the horizon the noise and jollity began, and it increased as the day grew older.

The Catholic Union held its eighth annual banquet, and the Hayes Dining Club had as its guest United States Senator Clegg of Oklahoma, the blind statesman.

Three hundred guests sat down at the banquet of the Catholic Union in the Worcester Hotel, and the guests of honor were Congressman Murray, Governor Fox, Lieutenant Governor Frothingham and Mayor Fitzgerald.

Senator Clegg, the Rev. Thomas J. Gahan, president of Boston College, and former State Senator Charles B. Sullivan were the speakers at the banquet of the Hayes Dining Club.

For months Charleston had been growing itself for this important day. Children of this section of the city look forward for months to two great days of the year—Bunker Hill Day and Christmas.

The latter is the day when the Police Commissioner lets down the ban on fireworks and firing America in every direction.

GEE THEY BOUNCE OFF

While his young wife to whom he had been married but six months awaits a call to his bedside from her home in Rochester, William D. Hanley, the young man whose name has passed fifty-six days in a swamp without food or shelter, is being closely studied by Boston specialists in the treatment of mental diseases. He has suffered which cost him to remain so long in a dismal swamp was at a time he could have joined his friends and relatives. Mental experts are so far from completely baffled by the young man.

As Hanley slowly gains strength he is being questioned more and more as to the reasons why he did not come out of the swamp and what mental processes passed through his mind during his long and tortuous stay there. Little by little he is telling the story of his experience which is more weird than any tale of fiction.

"I'm not trying myself to call to them,"

 He was tortured by the paucity, but after while he found any number of ways to "use day I tried to get up, but I couldn't thing that bothered me worst was the pain. Sometimes I thought it would drive

READ CAREFULLY - - - CONDITIONS OF CONTEST

THE BOSTON AMERICAN PROVERB CONTEST is a contest of skill and judgment. Prizes to the amount of $10,000 will be given absolutely free by the Boston AMERICAN to the winners. Everyone living in New England, irrespective of age, is eligible to enter this contest. Each set of answers must contain only one answer to each picture, but each person is entitled to send in three complete sets of answers.

The answers to the puzzle pictures may be sent in writing in longhand either with pen or pencil; they may be written on the typewriter, or may be printed in any manner to suit the fancy of the contestant. Participation in any other contest now being run or which may be run by the AMERICAN will not disbar anyone from entering the contest.

Each contestant or any or all members of the family will be allowed to submit one, two or three sets of answers, but each set must contain only one answer to each picture. Each set will be considered separately, but no contestant can win more than one prize. All employees of the AMERICAN and their families are absolutely barred from participating in this contest.

In case there are no complete lists of correct answers, prizes will be awarded to the persons submitting the nearest correct solutions. In case of a tie, award will be made on the basis of neatness and exact accuracy, but if the tie cannot be decided in that way the tied contestants will receive similar prizes.

Do not send your answers now. Keep them from day to day, and at the end of the contest arrange them in numerical order, and then send them in all at one time. Under no circumstances should contestants begin to send in their answers now, as any answers sent in that way will not be considered.

Time will not figure in awarding the prizes. The first answers sent in after the contest closes will stand no better chance of winning a prize than the last answers submitted.

All answers must be delivered at the BOSTON AMERICAN'S CONTEST HEADQUARTERS, 275 Devonshire Street, Boston, Mass., either by mail or in person within the specified time limit. It is contemplated to give contestants ten days to two weeks after the close of the contest to prepare their answers, so that they can be sent in all together at one time. The AMERICAN will not be responsible for the receipt of any answers unless sent by registered mail and addressed to "PROVERB CONTEST EDITOR, 275 Devonshire Street, Boston, Mass."

In case contestants desire further information they should address their questions to PROVERB CONTEST EDITOR, Boston, American, 275 Devonshire Street, Boston, Mass. There will be 75 puzzle pictures in the series used in the contest. The solutions of these pictures may be sent in on coupons printed in the daily and Sunday AMERICAN, or may be written on separate slips of paper. The use of the Editor of the PROVERB CONTEST reserves the right to make any change in, or addition to, these conditions that he may deem necessary for properly conducting the contest, and his decision on any question which may arise will be absolutely final.

ALL-STAR SHOW AT THE ARMORY

The Armory. A show on Tuesday evening will consist of an all-star program—one six-round bout and three three-round bouts making thirty-six rounds of action. The six-slay fight will be between Mickey McLean and Alphonso Brooks, N. Y., and Tommy Flanagan of Boston, two well-known fighters.

The opening three-round bout will be between Dick Sculer of Spokane, Wash., and Tony Foley of South Boston. This pair has been scheduled to fight at Brooklyn, N. Y., but at a good a contest as it would be possible to witness.

Alphonso Brooks of East Boston, who has been winning all the matches for the past six months, will meet Al Brooks of New York in the next ten-round bout. Bounded by the name of his father, Alphonso has a right hand which will be in Boston, and fight anywhere in the world.

Oddities in Life of Girl Peasants

VERY expert is the Russian peasant woman and mother English and American, who have their materials prepared for them, the farmer to Russia not only pays the tax, she uses, but during the summer months, when in the seed from which it is grown, she also tends the plants for making the seed for colored eggs. In the winter time the making of the lace comes, and she usually starts work about five or six in the morning and continues until nearly midnight. But she is not her mistress and the work she does enables her to earn her own "pin money." At the early age of six or seven her training begins, and the time she has reached the age of fifteen she is quite an expert worker.

Of a small build and bright appearance, these peasant women are very interesting, and a great contrast to their own folk, who are as a rule tall and somewhat emaciated. The peasant dress consists of the sarafan, a long, loose-fitting dress embroidered in fancy red and blue designs—the work of course, being the woman's own—a vest, and a headscarf of red or blue cloth, and a shawl, which usually is worn over this.

The way in which the hair is adorned is very national, and has a peculiar meaning. The single woman dresses her hair in two plaits, which she binds around her head and then throws a scarf over it. The married woman arranges her hair in one plait, which hangs down at the back below the neck, and on her head is draped a black and white scarf, which forms a very attractive headpiece.

East and West

THEY have never understood the Glimmer of the Night.
 Though stirred by one Creative Power, and nursed at Nature's breast,
 The White Man ever fails to read the Dark Man's heart aright.
 Though from the same Source they came, upon the same self name quest,
 So deep and wide the Great Divide,
 Between the East and West.

PERHAPS A PASSING FANCY
 [DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:
 While of a full about time ago I was introduced to a very nice young man, and after spending some time together he asked permission to take me to the movies. I was very much interested and went with him from his relatives and friends I had met. He told me he had taken a liking to me and I told him that I had a liking for him. I would like to meet him again, but I am not sure if I can. I don't want him to think that I am coming after him. I am just thinking of him. I have written you before and found

BIG MEET AT COUNTRY CLUB

Those who have remained true to the beautiful, fast-flowing river in spite of the movement of the fast-going automobile and the automobile race, were delighted with the attractive program arranged for the opening day of the annual Country Club meet at Brookline. There were six events. Standing out as the special attraction was the Lexington, many efforts, for a special trophy. The distance was one and a half miles. The officers were detailed from the army or General Wood, who wants to raise the standard of horsemanship and horse in the service.

It is expected that this series of racing will give the most exciting of any like events that New England has seen to date. A. H. Hargrave is chairman of the race circuit. He is assisted by a series of men who are thoroughly familiar with the details of every event. The complete program of entries and handicaps for this afternoon is as follows:

First race, starting at 2:30, the following: 1. 100 yds. 2. 200 yds. 3. 400 yds. 4. 800 yds. 5. 1600 yds. 6. 3200 yds. 7. 6400 yds. 8. 12800 yds. 9. 25600 yds. 10. 51200 yds. 11. 102400 yds. 12. Why Does Senator La Follette Oppose Reciprocity?

We Do Not Question His Integrity. Will He Answer One or Two Questions?

Copyright, 1911, by American Journal Examination

The most disappointing feature in the opposition to reciprocity with Canada is the attitude of Senator La Follette of Wisconsin.

Senator La Follette is one of the strongest men in the Senate, one of the ablest and most sincere citizens of this country.

We have repeatedly given him credit for his public record; we have opposed those that opposed him in his own State; we hope in the future, as in the past, to give the fullest publicity and encouragement to Mr. La Follette, who represents the type of aggressive, honest men needed in American public life.

Because of our friendship and admiration for Senator La Follette it is painful to contemplate his attitude on the very important reciprocity legislation.

Senator La Follette is a man of education, especially a man of INFORMATION and observation. When we find him associated with the narrow-minded, dishonest and insincere opponents of reciprocity, who talk as the mouthpiece of certain trusts, it is a great surprise and a disagreeable shock.

Senator La Follette's friends say that he feels bound to represent the interests of the farmers of Wisconsin, and that he believes, or at least the farmers believe, reciprocity would injure Wisconsin's agricultural interests.

Whatever the thought that is in his mind, we know that Senator La Follette is honest. No trust is powerful or rich enough to control him. The Lumber Trust, as it happens, centers its energies in Wisconsin, and the Lumber Trust does not control La Follette, and we conclude that the Senator's opposition to the reciprocity that would do so much for all the people of this country is based upon a mistaken view of the real interests of American farmers.

Will Senator La Follette say IN WHAT WAY ANY FARMER IN THE UNITED STATES COULD BE INJURED BY RECIPROCITY WITH CANADA? Will Senator La Follette answer questions that the ordinary citizen would put to him if the opportunity arose?

Would any farmer in Canada compete with the Wisconsin farmer any more than the farmer in Texas or Kansas NOW competes with that same Wisconsin farmer?

If the farmers of Wisconsin and the rest of the United States can prosper as they do in the face of the keen competition of all the millions of intelligent farmers in the United States, what have these farmers to fear from the farmers of Canada?

The Canadian farmer works under conditions exactly the same as those that control the farmer of the United States, does he not?

There is no exotic labor, no Asiatic labor in Canada. In fact the Canadians have been even more energetic and sometimes more cruel than the men of the United States in driving out Asiatic competition. Why cannot the farmer in Wisconsin or Maine compete with the farmer across the Canadian border as well as he can compete with the farmer near door?

Will not the American farmer realize within a year, if he does not realize now, that the great thing for this North American Continent is freedom in trade, in business, in friendly traffic of all kinds?

Will not the farmer when he realizes this—as a majority of farmers already realize it—ask Senator La Follette and the other opponents of reciprocity, and the narrow-minded, short-sighted and unintelligent politicians and others that oppose reciprocity, what the farmers asked those that opposed the magnificent Louisiana Purchase in days gone by?

When the Louisiana Purchase added those magnificent lands in the West and Southwest to our national domain those that were near-sighted protested. They feared the competition that farmers within the Union would feel when the new territory should be taken in.

Would any farmer to-day advocate cutting off reciprocity, absolute freedom of intercourse, with Texas and California?

Would Senator La Follette be in favor of cutting from our country that great area that the Louisiana Purchase gave us?

Has Canada any competition to offer our farmers that cannot be found among the powerful farmers that work and succeed now within the territory of the Louisiana Purchase?

Would Senator La Follette, or any intelligent farmer in the United States, if he could, separate from our Union and from the freedom of doing business which is implied in the word reciprocity, ANY FOOT OF SOIL IN THE AMERICAN UNION?

There are ninety millions of us Americans here in the United States, and soon there will be one hundred millions. Does Senator La Follette believe that this country has anything to lose by adding to its trading facilities and to its list of friendly consumers the great area and the small population of Canada, A POPULATION OF LESS THAN ONE-TWELFTH OF OUR OWN AT THE LAST CENSUS?

Senator La Follette, is it not desirable that this North American Continent should be as nearly as possible closely united, a friendly, brotherly community of sensible men dealing with one another, with as few obstacles as possible and as few causes of irritation?

The ideal condition, of course, would be a political as well as a business union of all this North American Continent. A political union, however, cannot be brought about suddenly or by any act on our part. It must grow out of the good will and the friendship of the Canadians if it is to come at all.

Is it not a fact that reciprocity, bringing the people of Canada and the United States closer together every day, will do more than anything else to promote, eventually, the complete political and business union of the United States and all the great territory north of us?

You are a believer in peace, Senator La Follette. You know the great menace of this division of interests, of trade, antagonism in the same district.

Would not reciprocity with Canada be the greatest possible permanent peace maker? Should we not with reciprocity be far more important in the eyes of Canadians than the imaginary "Empire of Great Britain," which they look to now?

Are we different in any way from the Canadians? Are we not alike in ancestry, religion, love of liberty, business, farming and manufacturing methods?

Is there anything but an IMAGINARY line between the two countries? Once we establish reciprocity we would have all these North American people trading harmoniously together.

Is not opposition to reciprocity a sign of littleness, and is it not opposition to a progressive, courageous act by Mr. Taft, the head of the Republican party?

Can anybody deny Mr. Taft's courage in taking the stand that he did, or his unselfishness in exposing himself to the cleverly planned attacks of the dishonest trusts under the leadership of such Republicans as Root and such Democrats as Bailey?

You have been mentioned conspicuously as a possible successor to Mr. Taft in the White House.

Your political career has justified the hopes of your friends. Does it not seem strange to them that they find you lined up with a Bailey and a Root against the most admirable, public-spirited and courageous act of any President of the United States since Lincoln?

Will you not think over the question, Mr. La Follette, and try to give your powerful support where it will do such great good to the country?

The $10,000 Proverb Contest

It Will Form a Fascinating Summer Course of Study That Will Develop the THINKING POWERS and Strengthen the MEMORY—SOLOMON Would Have Taken Part in It

Wisdom is the principal thing; therefore GET wisdom. Solomon said that, and he was one of the wisest men the world ever saw. Many wise men have lived since Solomon, and the wisest were the more they agreed with Solomon about wisdom.

Every school, college, church, newspaper and other institution for the dissemination of knowledge is a monument to the wise old biblical character.

This is pre-eminently the season of the student. From the schools and colleges of the land he is going forth, graduated, to face LIFE, another great school in which he MUST CONTINUE TO STUDY or be left hopelessly behind in the race for success.

It has been said that there is no ROYAL ROAD to learning. What is meant by that is that a person has got to employ his own brains for their development. And this means WORK.

When a person has got so far that he has begun to THINK he has got a good start toward getting the wisdom of which Solomon spoke. Then as he thinks more and more he begins to THINK CLEARLY and he has a better start on the delightful road.

Many students at school and college have wondered what on earth is the good of mathematics—they don't find any of the intricate problems of the books in real life. But mathematics teaches a person to THINK and to THINK CLEARLY.

Now if some one were to suggest a way to make the WORK of thinking and getting knowledge a PLEASANT TASK, rather than a piece of grinding toil, wouldn't that be a glorious thing!

Well, that's just what the AMERICAN has done in providing for its readers the GREAT PROVERB CONTEST, the details of which are being announced from day to day.

Solomon wrote a lot of fine proverbs, but he didn't write them all by any means. Many brilliant men through all the ages have contributed to these wise sayings which form the CONCENTRATED WISDOM OF THE CENTURIES.

The AMERICAN in this contest has devised a plan of great value for the development of the brain. Pictures that suggest some famous saying—some proverb or gem of philosophy—will be printed, and the development of the THINKING POWERS and the MEMORY will follow the solving of these puzzles.

There will be seventy-five of these pictures, one printed in the AMERICAN each day—just enough for a fascinating summer course of study. And you do not have to GO TO SCHOOL for this pleasant work—you can do it on the veranda at home, in the street car or on the train, at the seaside or in the mountain, at ANY PLACE and at ANY TIME.

The contest is open to EVERY MAN, WOMAN AND CHILD IN NEW ENGLAND. No one is barred.

But that isn't all. Education is not to be its own reward in this case—you are actually TO BE PAID FOR IT. There are to be $10,000 in magnificent prizes for the best solutions to the puzzles.

That does not mean that ONLY A FEW PERSONS will share in the rewards of merit—there will be 1,000 contestants who will get prizes.

The first puzzle picture will be printed in to-morrow's Sunday AMERICAN. Don't miss it. Order the paper to-day.

This is really one of the MOST ENTICING contests that New England ever saw, and no boy or girl, or man or woman should allow the opportunity to pass without taking part in the great EDUCATIONAL COMPETITION OF SKILL.

The Lost Continent

By GARRETT P. SERVISS

ONE of the great romances of the world, which hangs in the background of history, imposing by the vastness and strangeness of its terminal catastrophe, has recently been the subject of a new investigation, conducted with the thoroughness of German scholarship by Herr C. Gage. It is the story of the lost continent of Atlantis. The facts collected by Herr Gage, together with a discovery made last year by Mr. P. Fland, go to rehabilitate the Atlantis legend by showing the probability that a great continent did really once exist in the eastern half of the Atlantic Ocean, and that the volcanic islands of the Azores, the Canaries and the Cape Verde archipelago represent all that is left of it above the level of the sea.

Herr Gage shows that the volcanic islands of these islands are underlain by more ancient strata, such as would constitute the base of a continent. Under the more recent volcanic layers in the Canaries and the Cape Verde there have been recognized other volcanic rocks of more ancient origin, and also metamorphic rocks and sedimentary strata, and Mr. Fland has found in the Canaries unquestionable cretaceous deposits.

This would seem to indicate that the lost continent was yet in existence during the period when a volcanic sea had expanded the Rocky Mountain region from the eastern half of North America, and when gigantic discolorations of the earth's surface were being wrought by the action of the sea.

Sobered over a large area of what is now the United States. At that time, as far as we know, man had not appeared on any of the existing continents, and yet the dim traditions on which Plato based his description of Atlantis pictured that doomed land as the abode of a civilized race, dwelling in cities and enjoying all the advantages and delights of a cultivated world. They traced the unparalleled catastrophe which sunk the beautiful Atlantis beneath the sea, with all its life and all its records, closing a chapter of human history if it be, indeed, such a completely that a certain link in the chain of human evolution with the subsequent career of our race.

Still, if traditions that Plato heard were not mere legends of the imagination, there must have been some cause for the disappearance of the lost continent somewhere else on the earth, or some of the inhabitants of Atlantis must have escaped to Europe or Africa, and there re-established themselves—for otherwise how account for the survival of the memory of Atlantis?

The cloud of mystery surrounding the subject has by no means been cleared up, but the recent discovery affords the possibility of making others. No longer, however, exists the faintest direct evidence, for the submergence must have been a very deep one, judging from the fact that around the islands mentioned the sea is miles in depth, so that whatever it may be hidden for eternity.

In to-morrow's Sunday AMERICAN you will find Mutt and Jeff, the Katzenjammer Kids, Desperate Desmond, The Family Upstairs, Silk Hat Harry's Divorce Suit, the new "Joys" and "Glooms" series by T. E. Powers, "Us Boys," Happy Hooligan, Jimmy and the Baby, and Tad's "Daffydill." You simply cannot afford to miss to-morrow's Sunday AMERICAN, that's all!
